- 1. The reorganization of the East German Ministry for Post and Communications which took place in early summer 1952 resulted in the establishment of a new main administration which is responsible for supervising and keeping under surveillance the radio and television industry, organization and research. The new office is called the Hamptverweltung Funk (Main Administration for Radio).
- 2. Hauptverwaltung Funk has taken over several organizations formerly affillated with other agencies, among them the following:
  - The research department of the radio and television plant in Berlin-Adlershof. This plant as a whole formerly belonged to the General-intendant des Rundfunks under Gerhard Eisler's Office for Information at present the plant proper under (fnu) Augustin still belongs to the Generalintendant, while the research and development department is under the new main administration. The department is administered by (fnu) Hass, a returnee from Russia.
